NOW · 0:08 / 0:60

Roman trade routes. GEO 3 × 20-MIN · SPLIT

The map opens with the Mediterranean. Two pairs work in parallel — one tracing routes by hand, one reading the Carthage primary aloud — then they swap, twice. By the third round each child has done both.

GROUP ONE · MAP TABLE

PER-CHILD

KITCHEN ISLAND

Leo

Trace the three trade routes by hand. Pencil only — Leo asked for fewer colors.

Max

Name each port aloud as Leo passes it. Cross-check against the legend.

MATERIALS

☐ wall map (taped above island)

☐ graphite, two pencils

☐ trade-route key (printed)

GROUP TWO · READING NOOK

BAY WINDOW

Jack

Read the Carthage primary aloud, slowly. Pause at each underlined word.

Jane

Annotate the margin with the meaning of each underlined word.

MATERIALS

☐ Carthage primary (printed)

☐ pencil, soft eraser

☐ margin sheet (one per child)

SWAP AT 0:20 → 0:40 → 0:60

Two short bell tones at the swap. Materials stay on the table; the children move.

BEFORE START
Wall map taped above the island. Carthage primary printed (one per child).

HANDS OFF AT
11:00. Materials back to bin. Lab notebook out for next.

IF SHORT ON TIME
Drop the third swap. Two rounds is enough — each child has done both.

NOW PLAYING

0:08 / 0:20

Open with the Mediterranean. Two pairs run in parallel — one tracing routes, one reading the primary — then swap.

The map already stays on the wall through the whole hour. Children move; materials don't.

MATERIALS · CONFIRM BEFORE START

- ☐ Wall map · taped above island
- ☐ Carthage primary · 4 copies
- ☐ Pencils · 4, soft erasers
- ☐ Trade-route key · printed
- ☐ Margin sheets · one per child

WHAT EACH CHILD IS DOING — ROUND ONE

Leo

MAP TABLE

Trace the three trade routes by hand. Pencil only — start with Rome → Carthage, then Rome → Alexandria, then the long arc to Gades.

Leo asked for fewer colors. Hold the line.

Max

As Leo traces, name each port aloud. Cross-check against the legend. If a port is unfamiliar, mark it with a tick — return to it after the swap.

Max likes the cross-check. Let him own the legend.

Jack

READING NOOK

Read the Carthage primary aloud, slowly. Pause at each underlined word. Don't skip — pacing is the lesson here.

Jack reads ahead when nervous. If he speeds up, ask him to read the last sentence again.

Jane

READING NOOK

As Jack reads, annotate the margin with the meaning of each underlined word. One word per line. Use the glossary on the back if stuck.

Jane has done glossary work. Let her use it independently.

SETUP

Wall map up before breakfast. Carthage primary on the bay-window table. Pencils in the basin tin.

IF SHORT

Drop the third swap. Two rounds is enough — each child has done both.

ACTIVITY

Open with the Mediterranean. Two pairs in parallel — one tracing routes by hand, one reading the primary aloud — then they swap, twice.

- 01 Gather at the wall map. Name the sea, name the three home cities (Rome, Carthage, Alexandria).
- 02 Split: Group 1 (Leo + Max) at the map. Group 2 (Jack + Jane) at the bay window with the primary.
- 03 Run 20 minutes. Two short bell tones. Swap. Run 20 more. Bell. Swap. Run 20 more.
- 04 Reconvene at the map. Each child names one port that surprised them.

PER-CHILD · READ AT THE COUNTER

Leo MAP TABLE

Trace by hand, pencil only — Leo asked for fewer colors. Hold the line.

Max MAP TABLE

Name each port aloud as Leo passes it. Cross-check against the legend. The legend is his.

Jack READING NOOK
